BARE BONES OF SUFFRAGE BILL

Outlined by the Committee on Election Laws.

STATE ELECTION BOARD CHOSEN

County Board Chosen by State Board—The Elector Must Prove That He is Entitled to Vote.

The main features of the election law to be recommended to this legislature have been practically determined on by the sub-committee having the matter in charge.

The election machinery.

The nature of the ballot.

The right of the elector to vote.

These are, broadly speaking, the features that have engaged the most careful attention and regarding which a decision has been reached by the committee.

There will be chosen by this legislature a state board of elections composed of either five or seven persons, most probably five, that will perform the duties usually intrusted to such bodies and will serve for two years.

The state board of elections will appoint for each county a county board of elections to be composed of three persons.

The county board of elections will appoint at each precinct a board of elections composed of one registrar and two poll holders.

All vacancies in the offices of registrar and poll holder will be filled by the county board of elections except such as may occur on election day. These will be filled by the precinct board.

The most stringent regulations will be adopted to prevent the registration and voting of imported negroes or others not justly entitled to vote. There will be no voting of non-residents or convicts. The burden of proof willl be shifted from the challenger to the would-be elector, compelling every man who offers to register to show that he is a qualified elector and bona fide resident of the precinct where he would cast his vote. This will work no hardship to the qualified voter but will effectually bar the person who is not qualified. The counties along the border where, under the present law, negroes from Virginia and South Carolina have been wont to come over on election day and vote as they would go to a horse race or a dog fight, will be protected.

The separate ballot will be adhered to, the committee not deeming the blanket ballot suited to conditions in this state. The ballots will be of uniform size, color and weight and will be entirely devoid of device. These details will be left to the state board of elections which will prescribe the ballot to be used; the ballot itself being furnished as heretofore by the parties or candidates.

Separate boxes bearing the names of the candidates will be provided and the voter will be allowed to put his ballot in the box for himself though he may, if he so desires, ask the election officers to deposit the ballot for him. All ballots deposited in the wrong box will be thrown out as under the present law.

The state board of canvassers will be composed of the state board of elections together with the governor and secretary of state.

These are the outlines of the law as decided upon at the meeting last night by the sub-committee composed of Senator Glenn, chairman of the senate committee on election laws, Representative Stubbs, chairman of the similar house committee and Representative Francis D. Winston.

In preparing the law the committee has followed the election law embodied in the code as amended in 1885, and 1889, making it the basis of the new law. It was, of course, necessary to so change the old law as to adapt it to the new officers as set forth above. The sub-committee with the help of State Chairman Simmons, who has studied widely the suffrage laws of the various states, has been going over the proposed new law point by point, and it is expected that today or tonight the committee will begin to frame the law preparatory to submitting it to the full committee not later than the approaching week, with a view of getting it before the caucus as early as possible. A member of the committee said last night that the committee were agreed that all possible speed should be made compatible with care in the framing of the bill.

He also said that many knotty problems had arisen in the course of the preliminarydiscussion, some of them practically unsolvable, but that the committee believes the law as sketched out would prove to be acceptable to the qualified voter and effective against others.—News and Observer.

INTERESTING BUSINESS CHANGE.

W. H. Matthews Sells His Interest in the Clothing Business.

Mr. W. H. Matthews has sold his interest in the firm of Matthews, Chisholm, Stroud & Rankin to Mr. W. H. Rees and the name of that popular firm is changed to Rankin, Chisholm, Stroud & Rees.

Mr. Matthews retires from the clothing business to engage in the wholesale hat business. The new firm has his good will and best wishes. He will be greatly missed in the store by the hundreds of customers. To his efforts is largely due the great success which the firm of Matthews, Chisholm Stroud & Rankin has enjoyed.

Mr. Rees, though a new member of the firm, is by no means unacquainted with its business, for since its establishment on the 10th of June, '95, he has held the responsible position of book keeper and cashier and no member of the firm has worked harder or with better result than he. There is no better or more popular business man in Greensboro.

The members of the new firm know the methods by which the old firm attained its success and will not only retain, but will try to improve them. Every member of both the old and new firms is a wide awake business man and by honesty and fair dealing the old firm has shown itself to be one of the most successful in the city and its success has been secured and will be added to by its successors.

The new firm yesterday made application for articles of incorporation.

An Old Sea Captain.

Captain H. Munden, of the schooner City of Jacksonville, spent last night at the Allen, on his return to his home at Richmond. His vessel was water logged and abandoned off the South Carolina coast on December 28th.

Captain Munden is an old seaman, having started as a cabin boy, fifty-two years ago. He is an interesting talker, full of life and vigor, and entertained the guests around the Allen fireside with many tales of narrow escapes, interspersed with humorous incidents.

Another Office Building.

The Telegram learns that in a few months there will be another large and commodious office building erected in North Greensboro by one of the largest and most substantial firms in the state. The site of the proposed building is one of the prettiest to be found anywhere and the building for convenience and elegance of style, will be unsurpassed in North Carolina. We shall have more to say of it when the firm's plans are better developed.

Dr. Smith will preach his second sermon on Jonah at the First church tomorrow night.

FROM WASHINGTON.

No Advices from Samoa---Peace Treaty, Canal Bill, Etc.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Washington, Jan 21—Chairman Davis will call up the peace treaty early next week and use every effort to push the measure through to a speedy ratification.

It is expected by the leaders that the Nicaraguan canal bill will be disposed of today.

The secretary of the interior today affirmed the decision of the commissioners of the general land office in the case of Bishop Ireland, involving the title to thirty three thousand acres of land in Minnesota. The land conveyed under the second contract goes to him.

The state department has received no further advices from Samoa. It is understood that the matter is now in diplomatic channels, looking forward to an amicable settlement by Germany whose agent in Samoa is plainly responsible for the unfortunate condition of affairs.

EXTRA SESSION PROBABLE.

Washington, Jan. 21—If the peace treaty fails to be ratified this session, the president will call an extra session, or if the army reorganization bill fails to pass an extra session will be called. This makes it look decidedly like an extra session will be held.

LATEST FROM SAMOA.

Comes From German Source, and Distributes the Blame.

By Cable to THE TELEGRAM.

Berlin, Jan. 21—Dr. Hamann, a high official in the German foreign office, said today that the government had just received a report from Samoa, giving details which are regarded as reliable, because it distributes the blame pretty evenly among the three powers for the errors committed, though some points remain uncharged.

The report says Matafoas eligibility was recognized by all three consuls prior to the election, and Chief Chambers' cause is not understood.

United States Ambassador White said to the correspondent that he was without instructions, but did not anticipate any considerable trouble.

THE QUAY MUDDLE.

Opposition Are Confident of Defeating Him in the End.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Harrisburg, Jan. 21—Senator Finn, leader of the anti-Quay forces, who has remained here because he can't get a Quayite to pair with him, said today he was as confident as ever of defeating Quay.

All sorts of rumors are afloat in regard to the prospective investigation by the legislature of the integrity of senators and members growing out of alleged deals for votes in the senatorial contest.

SERIOUSLY INJURED.

C. M. Coble, of Salisbury, Run Over By a Train.

As the northbound vestibule was pulling up to the station here, at 10:43 o'clock last night, a man attempted to jump from the platform of the front car, but fell and was crushed beneath the wheels. Officer Jordan who was on duty at the station, and who was the only witness to the terrible accident, ran to the man and pulled him from under the cars.

His left arm had been cut almost off, his left leg badly mashed and torn, and his jawbone broken and the throat cut and mangled. He was taken to the freight depot and Dr. Broadnax, the Southern's local physician, was immediately summoned and did what he could to relieve the unfortunate man, though the shock was so great that he was unable to undergo any kind of an operation.

The man gave his name as C. M. Coble, of Salisbury. He is a blacksmith and with three other men, was beating his way to Roanoke, Virginia. He is thirty-one years old.

Dr. Broadnax, when seen by a Telegram reporter this morning, said that if Coble ever sufficiently recovered from the shock, he would amputate the arm, and probably the leg. He fears however, that Coble will not live long.

Coble was drinking when the accident occurred, but was not drunk. A half pint bottle containing about a gill of whiskey, was taken from his pocket soon after he was picked up.

Coble says he has a sister, Mrs. P. M. Goodman, living in Salisbury.

ARMY REORGANIZATION BILL

Probably be Passed Friday of Next Week.

THE PURE FOOD CONVENTION.

Other Interesting Items From the National Capital of Interest to North Carolinians.

Special to the Telegram.

Washington, Jan. 21.—Under the terms of the unanimous consent given in the house of representatives yesterday afternoon, on Tuesday, immediately after the reading of the journal, the house will proceed to consider the bill for the reorganization of the army. The bill will pass the house probably on Friday, as fifteen hours are to be allowed for debate, the time to be divided evenly on each side. Night sessions of the house, for debate only, will be held on Tuesday, Wednesday and probably on Thursday night, which will give additional time for members to discuss the bill, as it is expected that many members will desire to speak upon the subject.

In the house, even among its opponents, no doubt is felt as to the passage of the bill reported by the majority of the committee on military affairs, which is known as the Hull bill. The democrats, while realizing the importance of early action on this important measure, are not united in support of the Hull bill, but the larger portion of them will vote for the bill drawn by Congressman Hay, and which was accepted by the minority members of the committee.

Representative Martin, of North Carolina, who is a member of the committee on military affairs, will vote for the passage of the Hay substitute, but he says that the Hull bill will go through the house by a large majority.

The joint resolution of Senator Pritchard, which he offered in the senate last week, for the purpose of construing the act of June 27, 1890, granting pensions to soldiers and sailors who are incapacitated for the performance of manual labor, and providing for pensions to widows, minor children and dependent parents, has been reported from the committee on pensions to the senate favorably, and without amendment. Senator Pritchard says that the passage of his joint resolution, construing the law as provided therein, would result in the granting of pensions to thousands of citizens in North Carolina, not now able, under the act of 1890, to secure pensions.

Mrs. Gen. William Henry Browne, who came to Washington with the remains of her mother, who died suddenly last Saturday, has returned to her home at Pinehurst, N. C. She left Washington Thursday night.

Several North Carolinians are in the city in attendance upon the pure food convention, which convened here Thursday afternoon. The North Carolina delegates who have registered are Messrs. J. L. Ramsey, Alexander Q. Holliday, James B. Lloyd, D. Reid Parker, Prof. Charles E. Brewer, Prof. W. A. Blair and Prof. W. M. Withers.

Mr. George Lawson, of North Carolina, is in the city for a few days. He came to Washington for the purpose of being present at the wedding of Mr. Wythe White, Richmond, and Miss Mazie Reinohl, of this city, which took place Wednesday night at Hamline church.

Nominations of postmasters in North Carolina have been confirmed by the senate as follows: Elizabeth C. Pool, to be postmaster at Elizabeth City, Pasquotank county. John K. Moose, to be postmaster at Lenoir, Caldwell county.

Postmasters have been appointed in North Carolina as follows: Franklin Bandy, Band, Catawba county; Marget E. Davis, Clifford, Rutherford county; E. R. McMillan, Eunice, Alleghany; Lawrence O. Myers, Exter, Bertie; Mrs. Bedia D. Tilson, Grapevine, Madison; Mrs. Lucy P. Ellis, Shocco, Warren; Charles Z. Noland, Split Mountain, Haywood; Daniel W. Lee, Stanton, Wilkes; Guss M. Donnelly, Sutherlands, Ashe. William B. Fulford has been commissioned postmaster at Currituck, N. C.

Senator Pritchard was at the white house yesterday for the purpose of consulting the president, and getting data, relative to confederate graveyards. He proposes shortly to introduce in the senate a bill on the lines suggested by President McKinley in his Atlanta speech.

Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Dalton, of Greensboro, N. C., were in the city yesterday, stopping at the St. James Hotel.

Mr. R. L. Vernon, of Charlotte, is at the National Hotel.

CHURCH BELLS.

That the church bell will soon be a thing of the past is pretty sure. In the larger cities now the newest and most handsome church edifices are without bells. It is a mistake. On a bright, airy Sabbath morning nothing cheers the heart of a worshipper, on his way to church, more than the familiar and sweet tones of the old church bell. It reminds him of where he is going, and sets his mind in proper frame to enjoy the services. We hope it will be many years before those who "turn night into day for pleasure and day into night for rest" will regard the cheery ringing of church bells as a nuisance in Greensboro. It forms a part of the music incident to the Sunday service, and is often the sweetest heard on that day.

Writing on this subject the Memphis Commercial Appeal says:

Time is an iconoclast, breaking down old idols, annihilating customs once dear to the hearts of a whole people, and mowing down with remorseless scythe those things which a past generation took to be flowers, but which their desendants look upon but as so many cumbering weeds. The changing needs and tastes of the world necessitate a change of habits, and so one by one the old customs are passing away and new ones are taking their places. One of these ancient usages on which war is now being made, is the ringing of church bells. About the tender chimes which have rung through the ages a romantic sentiment clings which it will be hard to kill. Charles Lamb said the sound of church-calling bells was "the music highest bordering upon heaven" but the iconoclast of today says that the bells' time of usefulness is passed, since every household has its own timepiece to tell the hour of worship, and that the ceaseless ringing on the Sabbath mornings becomes an intolerable nuisance. It is, however, noted that it is not the working classes who raise this objection, but the self-indulgent "upper ten" who turn night into day for pleasure and day into night for rest.

La Grippe is again epidemic. Every precaution should be taken to avo d it. Its specific cure is One Minute Cough Cure. A. J. Shepherd, publisher Agricultural Journal and Advertiser, Elden, Mo., says: "No one will be disappointed in using One Minute Cough Cure for La Grippe." Pleasant to take, quick to act. Howard Gardner.

FOOD THAT INJURES.

THINGS THAT AFFLICTED PERSONS SHOULD NOT EAT.

If You Have a Tendency to Gout, Shun Meat as You Would Torture. A Little Advice to the Great Army of Sufferers From Dyspepsia.

A physician, writing in the Philadelphia Inquirer on "Foods and Their Effect on the Human System," says:

That out of sorts feeling from which most of us suffer half the days of our life is usually due to our eating things we shouldn't. Although we are constructed on the same model, scarcely any two people have exactly the same kind of heart, liver and other organs, and as a result nothing is truer than the saying that "One man's meat is another man's poison."

Meat, for instance, is a slow poison to a number of individuals. If there is a gouty strain in your family, you are storing up future torture for yourself every time you eat a chop or piece of beef. Gout is simply the result of too much uric acid in the blood, and meat is full of the material from which uric acid is made.

You may think that so long as you have not to sit in an easy chair all day there is no need for precautions in diet. But the first symptoms are always mild, and if you feel irritable and unable to settle down to work you had better be careful how much meat you eat. Englishmen are said to be the worst tempered people on earth. They are also the most gouty, and there can be no doubt that they are the greatest meat eaters.

Nothing is more nourishing than sugar, yet it is absolutely poison to those who are prone to diabetes, and any one inclined to corpulency should regard it as a natural enemy. Two lumps of sugar per day in excess of the quantity required by the body would add 60 pounds to a man's weight in five years—that is, of course, if he had the sort of constitution that easily puts on flesh.

But it is not sugar alone which is injurious to diabetic and stout people. The former should not look at porridge, rice, beet root, Spanish onions, port wine, rum or ginger beer; the latter should take neither soup, beer, potatoes nor treacle, while gouty people should not touch peas or beans.

If any near member of your family has St. Vitus' dance or epilepsy, you should eat meat very sparingly and grapes not at all, while you might as well think of committing suicide as frequenting the barroom.

For dyspeptics it is impossible to say what food is good, because everything is bad. White bread remains undigested for hours, brown bread is most irritating and injurious, vegetables are converted into gases and painful acids, and most kinds of meat are too heavy. The dyspeptic, in fact, ought never to have been born.

However, since the sufferer from dyspepsia must eat, let him follow this rule, and it may bring relief: Eat a little of everything, but eat sparingly, never leaving the table with a sense of having eaten sufficient; eat slowly. Masticate all food thoroughly and never drink while eating. If he must drink, let him drink after he has finished eating.

No doubt the majority of people see no connection between their ailments and the breakfast or dinner which they have enjoyed. But there are many persons who are so severely affected by particular articles of diet that there is no question about the fact that some kinds of food are more or less poisonous to us all, although we may not suffer very greatly after eating them. An acquaintance of the writer's, for example, falls into convulsions if he eats a single strawberry, and even the odor of strawberry jam in the neighborhood of jam factories almost throws him into a fit.

The writer knows a lady whose heart comes to a stop if she eats an egg. Of course she never intentionally eats one now, but frequently on taking a piece of cake or some kind of pudding or sauce containing eggs she swoons.

Many people get cramp in the stomach from eating honey, and more than one death has resulted from this cause. Others are made violently sick by the smell of apples, and a patient of the writer's has often averred that even the sight of beet root seemed to suffocate him, while another had to give up drinking milk because it produced intense inflammation of the eyes.

Many kinds of fish cause serious illness. Lobsters and crabs produce most painful itching in some people, and the writer has known several who after eating salmon felt a horrid taste in the mouth, and soon after suffered so badly from headache as to be compelled to go to bed.

These latter are the extreme instances of injury from food, but they prove that thousands of people suffer in a less degree, and that probably no one can lunch or dine without swallowing something poisonous to his system.

First Artist—Children don't seem to me to sell now as they used.

Second Artist (in a hoarse whisper)—Well, I was at Stodge's yesterday. He had just knocked off three little girls' heads, horrid raw things, when a dealer came in, sir, bought 'em directly, took 'em away wet as they were on the stretcher and wanted Stodge to let him have some more next week.

Old Lady (putting her head out of the window and shrieking)—Guard, stop the train and let me out, or I'll be murdered!—London Tit-Bits.

Mr. Elisha Berry, of this place, says he never had anything to do him so much good and give such quick relief from rheumatism as Chamberlain's Pain Balm. ON THE OPEN TRAIL.

This paltry earth and the low hung sky,
Like a little tent around it,
Too cramped I find to feel at home,
Too cramped I always found it.

Since I was ever a vagabond,
A vagrant-foot and rover,
Oh, give me the width of the skies to roam
When my earthly days are over!

Let me out where worlds the milestones are,
Where the unresting stars walk my way—
Out, out, where a man has elbow room
To travel his old time highway!

And when the journey is done God grant
That one lone inn I find me
Where I may enter and greet but her
And close the door behind me!
—Arthur J. Stringer in Ainslee's Magazine.

A LAKE PILOT'S LEG.

How It Solved the Mystery of the Wreck of a Steam Propeller.

"We are never amazed when vessels go aground and are wrecked on Lake Erie during the gales that are common on that treacherous water, for we expect such things then," said a lake skipper, "but when one is grounded on a clear day and wrecked on a course as clear as the day in the hands of a pilot that knows the ground like a book we naturally wonder a little and want to know the whys and wherefores. Such was the case of the propeller Susan E. Peck that went aground near Bar point and was lost with a $20,000 cargo.

"The captain of the Susan E. had sailed successfully hundreds of times between Point Pelee and Bar point and in all kinds of weather, and this time he had a wheelman who was known from one end of the lake to the other as one of the most expert navigators in the lake business. He had been lying up a long time, for the very good reason that owing to an accident to one of his legs that leg had to be amputated to save his life. The lost member was replaced by an artificial leg, and then the pilot was ready to take his post at the wheel again. His first service after his misfortune was this trip of the Susan E. Peck, and he ran her aground.

"The puzzle to everybody was how it was possible for the propeller, handled by a man of such skill and experience, on a straight course only 40 miles long and with every sailing condition favorable, to leave her course. The pilot was the most puzzled and astounded person of all. He soon got another vessel, and this one he ran in such an erratic manner, but fortunately with no disastrous result, that he was compelled to give her up, and his usefulness as a pilot was gone. He and others went to investigating to see if they could discover what was wrong with his seamanship.

"After awhile they discovered what they believed was the trouble. In the pilot's artificial leg a great deal of steel had been used in the joints and other places. Sitting close to the binnacle, as he did while steering, this steel deranged the compass so that it threw the wheelman way off his reckoning and led to the wrong piloting that had wrecked the Susan E. Peck and endangered the other vessel that the wheelman navigated subsequently. This was what they argued, and to demonstrate the correctness of the theory the pilot took charge of a vessel without wearing his false leg. Everything worked to a charm. The mystery of the Susan E. Peck was solved, and the pilot was restored to his old place in the confidence of Lake Erie skippers and vessel owners."—New York Sun.

South America's Suicide Wind.

In Brazil and other parts of South America the natives know and fear a certain condition of the air which they call "suicide wind."

It is not a superstition, but an actual condition of the atmosphere which seems to drive the people to madness, and during its continuance self inflicted deaths are numerous.

Criminologists and scientists all over the world are interested in this peculiar atmospheric influence, which is indicated by a soft, moist, warm air that settles heavily on the earth.

The climatic condition known as the "suicide wind" is greatly dreaded in that part of the country.

Statistics prove that suicides and other crimes occur together or in waves as they are described.

The Moral Is Plain.

"Once upon a time," says the Houtzdale (Pa.) Journal, "a man got mad at the editor and stopped the paper. In a few weeks he sold his corn at 4 cents less than the market price. Then his property was sold for taxes because he didn't read the sheriff's sale. He paid $10 for a lot of forged notes that had been advertised two weeks and the public warned against them. He then rushed to the printing office and paid several years' subscription in advance and had the editor sign an agreement that he was to knock him down if he ordered his paper to be stopped again."

Wanted a Chance.

A Scottish preacher who found his congregation going to sleep one Sunday before he fairly began suddenly stopped and exclaimed: "Brethren, it's nae fair. Gie a mon half a chance. Wait till I get alang, and then if I nae worth listening to gang to sleep, but dinna gang before I get commenced. Gie a mon a chance."

An Expert.

"Do you carve?"
"I should say I did!"
"And what are your specialties?"
"Sausage and omelets."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

It is a sober truth that people who live only to amuse themselves work harder at the task than most people do in earning their daily bread.—Hannah More.

In the sixteenth century fencers held the sword in their right hand and a dagger in the left to ward off blows.

To Our Friends and Patrons:

In closing our books for the year 1898 we find we have quite a number of small accounts which in themselves are trivial, but the aggregate would make quite a nice sum. While we wish to be obliging and courteous to our customers and try to please all, we must insist upon getting our business upon more of a Cash Basis.

To open so many small accounts involves quite an amount of book keeping and consumes too much valuable time. This can be avoided by paying cash for your bundle when delivered and do away with all possibility of disputed accounts.

Thanking our customers for their patronage in the past, and extending to each and every one the greetings of the season.

Respectfully,

The Steam Laundry,

Phone 72. John M. Dick, Proprietor.
